DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brosche et al (DE 19963005 A1).

Referring to claims 13, 14, 16, 18-21, and 24, Brosche discloses in figures 2-8, a device for measuring a clearance distance and a speed of an object using radar pulses (see Abstract), comprising: a receiver-side mixer (18) that correlates received radar pulses with delayed transmitter-side radar pulses (11); a control device for specifying range gates within which radar pulses that are to be supplied to the mixer are continuously changeable increasingly and/or decreasingly with respect to their pulse delay (16); a switchover device for: for one of resetting and raising the delay to one of a current starting value and a new starting value; and an evaluating device for determining distance and speed values in response to an output signal from the mixer (see figures 2-4 and 8).

Referring to claim 15, wherein the evaluating device determines limits of the range gates based on the ascertained speed values (see abstract).

Referring to claim 17, wherein the evaluating device detects a moved object based on an increasing speed gradient/amplitude (see abstract).

Referring to claim 23. The device as recited in claim 13, wherein the evaluating device draws up estimated values for the speed measurements for expected crash situations (see Abstract)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 22 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brosche et al (DE 19963005 A1) in view of Mende (DE 19833327 A1)

Mende teaches an evaluating device draws up a clearance distance history from clearance distance measurements and detects object patterns based on the clearance distance history (see figures 3-5). It would have been obvious to further include the above clearance distance history and detect object patterns for better collision avoidance.
